Course REdesign and Teaching Effectiveness (CREATE) Program

What is CREATE?

CEE's mission is to promote and support effective learning for all UC Davis students. In fulfillment of its mission, CEE is offering the Course REdesign And Teaching Effectiveness (CREATE) Fellows Program, a year-long program designed to support faculty engagement in course (re)design/innovation and promote learner-centered, evidence-based teaching practices that foster success for all students on the UC Davis campus.

Who can apply?

The CREATE Fellows program is open to all full-time Academic Senate faculty members and instructors.

Applications open: October 1, 2018
Applications close: October 31, 2018

What are the benefits of being a CREATE Fellow?

- Intensive professional development in learner-centered pedagogies, instructional strategies, and reflective practice
- Individualized support from CEE
- Funding to support each Fellow's course and teaching effectiveness redesign

What does a CREATE Fellow do?

- Redesign your course and receive individualized feedback from CEE consultants
- Collaborate with colleagues in a seven-part workshop series (workshops held during Winter & Spring 2019)
- Teach the redesigned course in Fall 2019
- Share your project with the campus community (e.g., CEE's 2019 SoTL Conference)
